

ABSTRACT

The mobile communication base station device includes a wireless channel state monitoring unit which obtains state information of a wireless channel from a wireless unit and a coding and decoding unit to conduct monitoring, and a channel Qos management unit which gives a channel control instruction based on the state information of the wireless channel notified by the wireless channel state monitoring unit to use a band of an ATM channel appropriate for the state of the wireless channel.